

Artist Statement:

"Art helps me balance the inner chaos, the thousands of sensations that I am dealing with on a daily basis."

Born in Romania and currently residing in Spain.

I draw inspiration from the landscapes that surround me. In my art, especially in my landscape if you take a closer look, you can discern the melancholy of my homeland.

Thus, in my portraits, I strive not merely to capture the visage but to immortalize the essence. The profound connection between the human spirit and the world it inhabits. I invite viewers to explore these narratives, to peer into the windows of the soul, and recognize that even in moments of anguish, beauty can be found. Every set of eyes in my portraits tells a story.

My primary mission as an artist is to awaken the viewer's senses and encourage them to embark on a deeper exploration of the world that surrounds us. I firmly believe that art possesses the remarkable power to unveil the concealed beauty and enigma inherent in humanity, and I hope that my work serves as a conduit for this revelation.

I am fascinated by the experience I undergo when attempting to capture the intricate relationship between emptiness and desire. In each brushstroke, I seek to evoke a sense of intrigue and contemplation. My pieces resonate with emotions and thoughts that often lie dormant, waiting for the right moment to surface.

While I prefer working with both oil and acrylic, I maintain a curious spirit about various techniques, colors, forms, and surface. I am constantly experimenting and endeavoring to push the boundaries of my artistic expression.

I aspire for my work to serve as a testament to the profound connection between art and human experience, acting as a bridge between inner turmoil and external serenity.

My art reflects my soul but also a mirror in which we can glimpse our own.

Join me in my journey.
